Do I Need a Username and Password to Access CEBS Public Data?

Page Navigation (Quick Links):
   1) Accessing Public CEBS Data
   2) Accessing Private CEBS Data

Answer: You do not need a username and password to access CEBS Public Data. For CEBS Data categorized as private, please refer to "Accessing Private CEBS Data" below.

1) Accessing Public CEBS Data

All public data in CEBS is available on the CEBS website and accessible without the need for a username and password (https://cebs.niehs.nih.gov/cebs/). Using this interface, users can search for the data from specific studies or data types. Users can also use the Download Data button to download all public data.

2) Accessing Private CEBS Data

There are some instances where CEBS data is categorized as private. For example, recently performed studies that have not been completely reviewed are private before becoming public in CEBS. Private data can only be accessed via the "My Data" link (or at the address: https://cebs.niehs.nih.gov/cebs/login) and would require users to login with a username and password. Explicit permission by data owners is required to gain access to private data.

Updated November 2022